

Carbon RX Appoints Chief Reginald Bellerose as Chairperson of Council of Advisors

Regina, Saskatchewan – March 2, 2022 - Chief Reginald Bellerose, who after 17 consecutive years of serving as Chief of Muskowekwan First Nation put his name forward as a candidate and was the runner up for the title of National Chief of the Assembly of First Nations of Canada. Chief Bellerose has sponsored significant national resolutions on the floor and has been politically active on a number of high-profile issues nationally and regionally.

In 2021 Chief Bellerose made the decision to retire from active politics. Chief Bellerose continues his work balancing his formal education alongside the teachings and knowledge shared by Chiefs and Elders that he has worked with over the years.

“Chief Bellerose is highly respected and has been critical key player in advancing top initiatives that have positively impacted First Nations across the country. He offers a wealth of experience and proven successes to Carbon RX as First Nations liaison to navigate through a diverse and complex political and economic reality from a perspective that was forged over his 17 years of serving First Nations people.”, shared Lionel Kambeitz, Executive Chairman, Carbon RX.
